1. Introduction

The Dispute Process

Dispute Cases

Disputes Management Portal

Types of Dispute Cases

The Disputes Management Portal is a tool within the Merchant Portal that allows you to view and respond to your dispute cases online. This section includes a high-level overview of:

- The Dispute Process
- Dispute Cases
- The Disputes Management Portal
- Different Types of Dispute Cases

The Dispute Process

A cardholder can initiate a dispute by calling his/her bank. The issuing bank will forward the dispute to the card brand (MasterCard, Visa, Discover or Amex), who in turn will send it to the acquirer that processed the transaction. The acquirer will check the validity of this dispute and forward it to the merchant that processed the transaction. If the merchant challenges the dispute by submitting supporting documents, the acquirer will then send it back to the card brands, who will pass it on to the issuing bank. If the issuing bank accepts the documents, the merchant is credited (if previously debited), and the dispute process is closed. However, the issuing bank can continue the process using other dispute stages like arbitration. If the merchant does not respond to the initial Chargeback or decides to accept liability, the merchant is debited, and the dispute process is completed. There is no financial impact for retrieval requests, but it follows the same process as a Chargeback.

Dispute Cases

A dispute case can be created when there is a question or disagreement about one of your payment card transactions – for example, if a cardholder does not recognize an item listed on his credit card bill, or if a cardholder does not agree with an amount that was charged to his card.

A Dispute Case involves some or all of the following parties:

Cardholder	A customer using a payment card to purchase goods or services
Issuing Bank	The bank that issued the card to the cardholder – aka “Issuer” or “Bank”
Card Association	Visa, MasterCard, AMEX, Discover, and so on – aka “Card Scheme,” or “Scheme,” or “Card Brand”
Acquirer	The institution that processes card payments on behalf of the merchant; for example, Global Payments (aka “Acquiring Bank”)
Merchant	The organization accepting payments by payment card in exchange for goods or services

Dispute cases contain information such as transaction data, supporting documents from the various parties, correspondence sent to the merchant or issuing bank, and case data, such as records of the decisions that were taken to resolve the disputes.

Disputes Management Portal

Global Payments manages your dispute cases using an online system called Disputes Management, a tool within the Merchant Portal. Disputes Management allows you to:

- View case information for your open cases and resolved cases
- Submit a copy of a sales draft and other relevant documents
- Accept liability for a dispute case
- Challenge (refute) a dispute case and provide documentation that supports your position
- Fulfill a Retrieval Request or accept liability for it if you are unable to fulfill the request

Types of Dispute Cases

Incoming cases are cases that are initiated by cardholders or issuing banks.

Outgoing cases are cases that are initiated by merchants or by Global Payments on behalf of merchants.

Retrieval Request is a request for proof that a transaction was valid. To respond to a Retrieval Request, you might, for example, provide a copy of the sales draft for the transaction. No financial adjustments are performed for Retrieval Requests; however, if you do not respond successfully, you could be held liable for any Chargeback cases that result.

Chargeback case is created when the cardholder or issuing bank disputes a transaction. You can respond to a Chargeback by either acknowledging the Chargeback and accepting liability for it, or by challenging the Chargeback by defending the transaction with supporting documentation.

Chargeback Reversal stage is created when the Issuer decides the chargeback submitted is invalid. When the Issuer reverses the chargeback, if your account was debited, Global Payments will credit your account and report the Chargeback Reversal within the online tool or through Merchant Portal/Reporting.

Incoming Pre-Arbitration can be created when a case is not resolved at the Chargeback stage. For this case type, the issuing bank and Global Payments attempt to resolve the dispute and avoid arbitration. Arbitration, when necessary, is performed by the card associations.

Incoming Pre-Compliance is a type of case that is based on a violation of the rules that are defined by the relevant card association.

Incoming Good Faith Collection is a request for you to accept liability for a case on a good faith basis, even though the final deadline for resolving the case has passed.

Acceptance of an Incoming Good Faith Collection case is completely at your discretion.

The general term Exception Case includes both the Incoming and Outgoing versions of the following case types:

- Pre-Arbitration
- Arbitration
- Pre-Compliance
- Compliance
- Good Faith Collection

The Dashboard graphs display data for a time period you select at the top of the page: Last Week (default), Yesterday, Last Month, and This Year.

Disputes by Card Brand – shows the percent of cases attributable to each card brand for the time period selected. Hovering over this chart shows the case amount and dispute count by card brand.

Top 5 Reason Code – a bar chart showing case count for the top five reason codes by volume for the time period selected. Hovering over the graph bars shows the exact case count for the reason code and the reason code description.

Dispute Comparison – shows a comparison of case counts for Chargebacks, Retrieval Requests and Other cases over time for the time period selected. Hovering over the chart lines shows the date and the count for Chargebacks and Retrieval Requests.

NOTE: If you prefer to access the My Work Queue without viewing the Dashboard, click on Queues in the Navigation menu

Main Menu

Every page of the Disputes Management tool displays the main menu on the left side of the page.

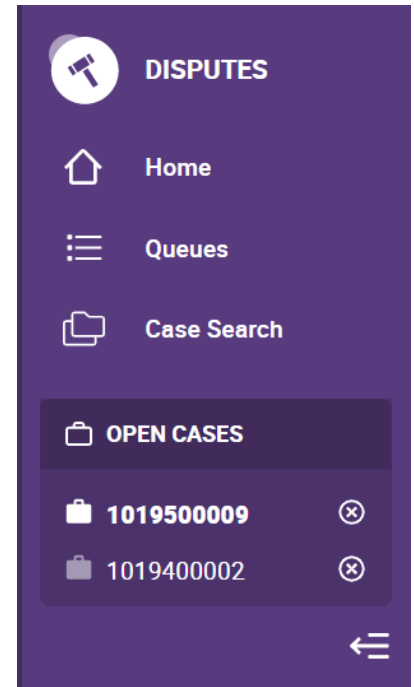

Home – Displays dashboard reports

Queues – Lists the dispute cases for your review and/or action

Case Search – Allows you to do a wildcard search on case number, account number, merchant number and ARN

Open Cases – A folder containing cases you have opened; a convenient way to access these cases

The left arrow at the bottom of the menu allows you to collapse the menu for a broader view of the information displayed on the page

Page Display

The system defaults to displaying 25 cases per page. If there are more than 25 cases, you can page back and forth by clicking Prev (previous) or Next:

Or, at the bottom of the Search Results page, you can select how many cases you want to display per page. Select 25, 50, 75 or 100 per Page.

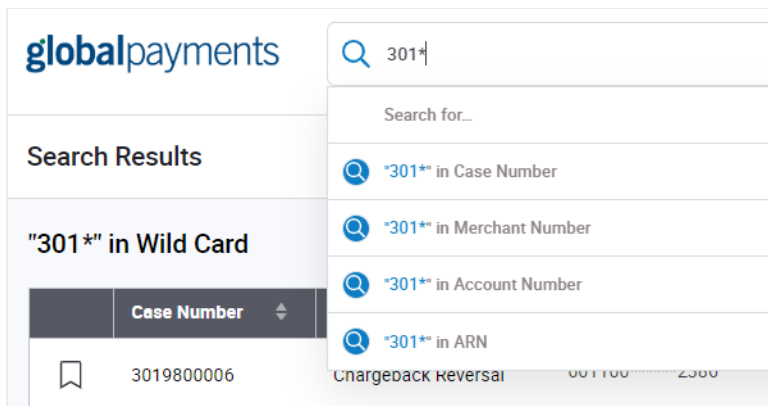

Wild Card Search

The top of every page in the Disputes tool includes a search feature, which allows you to perform a wild card search by entering search criteria next to the magnifying glass icon and then selecting whether you want to search within Case Number, Merchant Number, Account Number, or ARN. If you don't know which category you want to search within, you can search within all of these categories by entering the search criteria in the search bar, then clicking Enter. It is recommended that you narrow your search, when possible, by selecting a search category to reduce search time.

For example, 301 searches for all data ending in 301. 301 searches for all data starting with 301.

All search criteria must be numeric. Searches cannot be performed using alpha characters. You can, however, use the ? (question mark character) to replace a digit within a data field (Case Number, Merchant Number, Account Number, ARN). For example, to search for all Case Numbers that begin with 102 and end with 045, enter 102????045 and select Case Number.

Following is an example of a search where the desired search results start with the number 301:

The screenshot shows the Global Payments search interface. At the top left is the 'globalpayments' logo. To its right is a search bar containing the text '301*'. Below the search bar is a dropdown menu with the following options: 'Search for...', '301' in Case Number, '301' in Merchant Number, '301' in Account Number, and '301' in ARN. The 'Case Number' option is selected. Below the dropdown is a table of search results. The table has a header row with 'Case Number' and a dropdown arrow. The first row of results shows a bookmark icon, the number '3019800006', and a partial view of another row with 'Chargeback Reversal' and '001100'.

1. Only single * can be used in one search
2. Single ? can be used in one search
3. Asterisk (*) may be used to specify any number of characters
4. A question mark (?) may be used to represent a single character
5. Both * and ? will not be used together in the same search

Queues

Selecting Queues from the main menu displays the default queue: My Work Queue. This is the most important of the queues, as it lists the cases waiting for you to review and take action.

Overview

There are six queues, listed when you click the box with the name of the current queue next to Queues. The number next to the queue shows the total number of cases in the queue.

The screenshot shows the 'Queues' interface. At the top, there's a dropdown menu for 'My Work Queue' with a count of 177. Below it, a table lists various queues: 'My Bookmarked Cases' (3), 'My Work Queue' (6), 'Pending Chargebacks' (13), 'Pending Exceptions' (8), and 'Pending Retrievals' (2). The main table displays case details with columns: Brand, Reason Code, Case Amount, and Merchant. Each row includes a case ID, status, card number, brand logo, reason code, amount, merchant name, and an 'Actions' button.

My Work Queue (the default queue) is the mechanism by which Global Payments communicates to you that you need to review and take action on the cases in this queue. My Work Queue includes Chargebacks, Retrievals and Exceptions with these status codes:

- Merchant Response Needed
- Request More Information

My Bookmarked Cases includes a list of cases you bookmark for future action or review.

Pending Chargebacks includes all Chargebacks with a case status of Pending Internal Review, meaning they are under review by Global Payments. When you Accept or Challenge a Chargeback in My Work Queue, it moves to Pending Chargebacks.

Pending Exceptions includes Pre-Arbitrations, Pre-Compliances and Good Faith cases with a case status of Pending Internal Review. These are under review by Global Payments.

Pending Retrievals includes Retrieval Requests with a case status of Pending Internal Review. When you select Fulfill or Unable to Fulfill a Retrieval in My Work Queue, it moves to the Pending Retrievals queue for Global Payments review.

Closed includes cases that have expired based on Case Due Date or have been resolved, meaning that Global Payments has responded to the Issuer and has received a response back from the Issuer. No action can be taken on these cases.

Customize Your View

Disputes Management allows you to customize your view of each queue by selecting the columns and data that display on the page.

Add or Remove Columns

Disputes Management allows you to export case data within a queue to a CSV file. To export data to a CSV file, select a queue. Click Export.

The Export Data popup window displays.

Select whether you want to export Visible Columns only, or All Columns. Name the file, then click Export. You can also create or select a saved Filter or Search, then export the data.

Key Fields

Disputes Management allows you to customize your view of each queue by selecting the columns and data that display on the page.

Case Number

Case Number is assigned by Global Payments. It appears on the Dispute Notification document you received from Global Payments.

Case Status

Values for Case Status include:

- Merchant Response Needed – Open cases that need your attention to be resolved.
- Request More Information – Open cases that require you to provide additional information to be resolved.
- Pending Internal Review – These cases are currently under review by the Global Payments internal disputes operations team. The only action you can take during this time is to upload documents. Once a decision is made by the Global Payments disputes operations team, the status of the case will change to reflect whether additional action (if any) is needed from you.
- Closed – Cases for which you cannot take further action.

Case Status informs you that you need to take action on the case. All cases in My Work Queue have a Case Status of either Merchant Response Needed or Request More Information.

Due Date

Due Date lets you know the date by which you need to respond to this dispute before it expires. Every case also has an indicator on the top left corner of the Case Details page that lets you know how many days you have left to respond.

For most cases the deadline usually falls within 25 days; however, this number can vary based on the card brand. For best results, you are encouraged to respond to each dispute case as soon as you can collect all the supporting information to do so. An earlier response increases the time available to complete any follow-up tasks that may be required to resolve your case before the final deadline is reached.

If you do not respond to a case, it will eventually move to the Closed work queue. In this situation the following occurs:

- If a Retrieval Request, Pre-Arbitration, Pre-Compliance, or Good Faith Collection case moves to a Closed status, you can no longer respond to it.
- If a Chargeback case moves to a Closed status, you can respond to it, but since the timeframe has passed, Global Payments will pursue the case on your behalf on a “best effort” basis.

NOTE: Due Dates on the Portal may differ from the Due Dates on the letters sent to you by Global Payments, as the dates take into consideration the time required for mailing versus responding online. If you are responding to a case through the Portal, use the Due Date provided by the Portal.

Due Date is the default sort order for cases in My Work Queue. Within Due Date, cases are sorted by highest amount to lowest amount. Sort order may be changed by clicking column headers.

Reason Code

Reason codes are assigned by the card brand to provide additional information about the case and why it occurred. It also guides you on what type of documentation to use when submitting a challenge.

Hovering over the question mark next to the Reason Code displays a short description of the Reason Code. Here is an example:

Click the question mark icon to display the Reason Code advisor with best practices from card brands, including:

- Why did I get this notification of a dispute?
- What caused the dispute?
- How should I respond?
- How do I prevent this in the future?

REASON CODE RG
Non-Receipt of Goods, Services, or Cash

Why did I get this notification of a dispute?
Cardholder challenges the validity of a Card Sale due to non-receipt of goods and/or services.

What caused the Dispute?
This Reason Code is valid for Chargebacks where the Cardholder claims to have been charged for a Card Sale involving the purchase of goods and/or services that were not received by the Cardholder or delivered promised by the Merchant.

How should I respond?
Provide the following compelling evidence:

- Transaction Documentation or other compelling evidence indicating the Cardholder agreed to the Card Sale
- Evidence that the Merchant delivered the goods and/or services as directed by the Cardholder
- Evidence that the Cardholder used the disputed airline ticket
- Evidence that the lost ticket application submitted by the Cardholder is not valid
- Transaction Documentation or other compelling evidence indicating the Cardholder agreed to the Cash Advance or Cash at Checkout transaction

Bookmarks

Bookmarks allow you to temporarily save cases to a dedicated queue for easy access. When you bookmark a case, it will appear in the My Bookmarked Cases queue, which can be accessed from the Queues tab in the left navigation. Bookmarked cases will remain in the My Bookmarked Cases queue until you remove them. The queue is only visible to you.

Bookmarked cases can be identified by the bookmark icon. A bookmark can be toggled on or off by clicking the icon.

If the case is not currently bookmarked, it will look like this:

If the case is currently bookmarked, it will look like this:

The bookmark icon is located in the first column of every case row in every work queue.

Take Actions

The Take Actions feature allows you to take action on a specific case:

- Accept or challenge a Chargeback

- Open the dispute case
- View more details about the case, and

Hovering over the question mark icon next to the probability displays the following legal disclaimer:

Red – indicates a low probability of successfully challenging the case

Yellow – indicates a neutral probability of success

Green – indicates a good chance of successfully challenging the case

NOTE: The probability score is only an estimate of the potential outcome of a chargeback dispute based on your historical chargeback results and does not guarantee any outcome or result. See the Help Center Page for more information.

A final sentence states: "Failure to provide this specific documentation, will result in us being unable to defend this further on your behalf."
