

Attune Workers' Compensation (EverPeak™ Built by Pinnacol)

Your workplace safety review: What to expect

At EverPeak, your workplace safety is our top priority. We partner with Builders' safety experts to assess your workplace and identify potential risks. Participation in this review is required to maintain your workers' compensation coverage and ensure your employees' safety and your business's smooth operation.

Participation in this review is required to maintain coverage

How the review process works

1. We'll contact you

A safety expert from Builders Insurance or another one of our trusted partners (TransStar Technical Services, Inc., Lowry & Associates, Inc., or Midwest Technical Inspections, Inc.) will contact you to schedule your review. Depending on the nature of your business, we'll set up an on-site visit or a phone call to conduct the review.

2. We'll ask you questions

During the review, the safety expert will discuss your business operations, including:

- What your business does
- Your worksites
- Use of vehicles
- Use of subcontractors
- Information about your employees
- Equipment and machinery
- Personal protective equipment (PPE)

Please answer the questions to the best of your ability during the inspection.

3. We'll provide recommendations

After the review, Builders will email you personalized recommendations.

- Suggested recommendations (No action required):

These tips will enhance workplace safety and may even help lower your future insurance premiums.

- Mandatory recommendations (Action required):

You must implement these recommendations to comply with safety regulations and maintain your insurance coverage. To confirm the changes, sign and date the recommendations document and return it via email to Builders.
