Contract management for biopharma manufacturing

Contracts are critical to pharma operations where the majority of business is driven through contracts with suppliers, clinical research organizations, distributors, hospitals, and pharmacy benefit managers

Despite the critical role contracting plays, it's rarely a mature business process for most pharma manufacturers. As a result, common challenges include inefficiencies, risk exposure, and poor visibility into obligations across the enterprise. These lead to poor contracting experiences, which jeopardize valuable relationships with suppliers, partners, and customers.

Conga contract lifecycle management (CLM) for biopharma manufacturing helps organizations automate the contract life cycle, drive business agility, gain visibility, and achieve compliance across legal, procurement, clinical, and sales teams.

Administration and drafting
