STEM Discovery: San Francisco

Home to some of the world's most recognizable technology companies, it's no surprise that San Francisco has a thriving science, technology, engineering, and math culture. Experience both sides of this tech-friendly region—hardware and software; art and science; city and nature; Silicon Valley and San Francisco—as you explore local museums, university campuses, and hands-on workshops. During your tour of the Bay, you'll discuss conservation in a redwood forest, dream about your future while visiting Stanford, and discover the intersections of science, art, and human perception at the Exploratorium.

Discover the sciences

These Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math (STEM) tours are your students' chance to discover the real world applications of these subjects for themselves. Spend time with leading scientists, mathematicians, and engineers as they guide your students through workshops and hands-on demonstrations—everything from nuclear physics to robotics to engineering a bridge. Plus, there's enough time to take in the sights of the incredible cities you'll visit, too.

WHAT TO EXPECT ON A STEM TOUR

Experiential learning

Students will conduct experiments and participate in hands-on workshops. After all, learning is always more fun with a lab coat on.

Cutting-edge locations

Explore unique cities and understand why they're home to some of the world's most advanced laboratories, universities, and companies.

Industry experts

Let top scientists, engineers, and researchers from MIT, the Brooklyn Navy Yard, the California Academy of Sciences, and more explain the real-life value of a STEM education.
