Liberty and Ellis Islands

For some 12 million immigrants between 1892 and 1954, Ellis Island was the gateway to a brand new life in the United States. Roughly 40 percent of Americans today are here because an ancestor came through Ellis Island. Today, visitors to the museum get a glimpse into the exciting yet arduous immigrant experience of the 19th and 20th centuries. From the Main Building's baggage room, where immigrants entered just as visitors do today; to the Registry Room upstairs, where they underwent medical and legal processing; this immersive experience leaves a powerful and lasting impression.
