Strategic Funding Analysis

Our team provides strategic funding analysis services to help clients save time by focusing only on programs that best match their business growth needs and qualifications. Our grants discovery, matching, and qualification process ensures that business projects meet the requirements and mandates of active and available funding programs.

Consulting Services

We offer tailored consulting services to help clients leverage government funding programs for a variety of business investments and initiatives. We provide clients with strategic guidance and support throughout the government funding process, from early consultancy support, including initial conversations with government funding agencies, to due diligence and compliance.

Grant Writing Expertise

Our team provides funding application writing services to increase the chances of success for clients. Our efficient allocation of resources supports the writing and administrative components of the process, ensuring that clients are not overburdened by it.

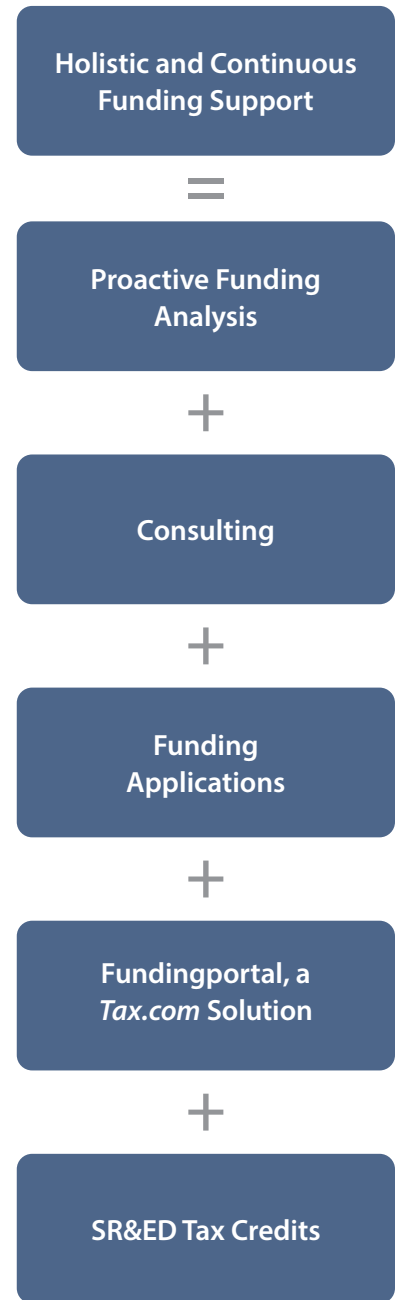

Fundingportal™, a Tax.com™ Solution

Fundingportal, a tax.com solution, delivers Canadian organizations automated access to more than 4,600 government grants, incentives, and tax credits. Fundingportal offers three tailored solutions—Growth, Enterprise, and Advisory. With intelligent search, automated funding alerts, and integrated support options from Ryan services, clients can manage diverse projects or client profiles, streamlining every stage of the funding process to maximize financial opportunities.

Retroactive R&D Tax Credits

The Scientific Research and Experimental Development (SR&ED) tax credit is the largest single source of Canadian federal government support that incentivizes business-led R&D projects, providing more than $3 billion in tax incentives to more than 20,000 claimants annually. Our team has vast expertise in all fields of science and finance. We prepare all SR&ED documentation, alleviating the time pressures on your internal resources and allowing you to focus on your core business.
